Suggested Intern Sponsorship

Franconia Sculpture Park’s Intern Artist Program and Public Art Administrative Intern Program help career-bound artists and aspiring arts administrative professionals to gain experience and build expertise at a nonprofit professional artists’ organization. Franconia works to foster an inspiring environment for artists to expand their skills and promote the public education of three-dimensional art.

The Intern Programs at Franconia are the result of pivotal experiences that John Hock, founding Director and current Artistic Director/CEO, had as a young artist. The programs have been in existence since the first year of the park’s exhibition in 1996. Hock received an award for Program Excellence from the National Foundation for the Advancement in the Arts for the creation and coordination of the Intern Artist Fellowship Program.

Franconia welcomes all career-bound artists and young arts administrators to apply to the Intern Programs. Successful applicants receive room and board, and studio space (Intern Artists only). Interns must fund their own travel and material expenses. To help offset travel and material costs that the intern may incur, some schools and/or private individuals sponsor their internship. The sponsorship makes it possible for any student in any financial situation to participate in our Intern Programs.
